Introduction

Welcome to the gründen³ start-up guide!

Dear readers

There are many ways to start a business and a host of factors to consider before taking the plunge into entrepreneurship. A brilliant business idea provides a very good start, but is it truly feasible and marketable? What are the skills and resources required to be competitive? What are your capital needs and how do you feel about risks? Do you have a network of family and friends to support you? These are just some questions that need to be explored beforehand.

While there is no recipe for creating the perfect entrepreneur, help is available when it comes to setting up a company.

This issue of gründen³ contains useful information and valuable tips on how to go about starting a business in Switzerland, including helpful contacts and resources to support you on your way. We hope you enjoy reading the gründen³ start-up guide and wish you the best of success with your entrepreneurial goals.

Arriving in Switzerland and setting up a company

Attractive conditions

There are several compelling reasons to set up a company or move the domicile to Switzerland. These include a favourable tax climate, political stability, a liberal labour market, social peace, a multilingual population, outstanding educational and research institutions as well as an excellent transport infrastructure (road, rail and air).

More information about the general business conditions in Switzerland is provided by the Osec Business Network: www.osec.ch.

If you already have a geographical preference, the cantonal organizations for the promotion of economic development are the right offices to contact: www.invest-in-switzerland.com.

The cantonal and regional organizations for the promotion of economic development provide useful information and assistance covering topics including:

- Qualities of the preferred location, in consideration of the needs of the interested party
- Location search (real estate, premises, relocation, international schools etc.)
- Work and other permits
- Company foundation
- Regional branch, cluster and technology transfer networks
- Coordination of services rendered by the authorities (one-stop shop)

Scope of possibilities dependent upon nationality and type of permit

The overview “Information for non-Swiss nationals” (see pages 31–32) gives a general outline of the options available to you to enter the country, take up employment, set up a company and acquire real estate.

Note that for EU-/EFTA- nationals, a registration procedure applies for employment lasting up to max. 90 work days per calendar year:

www.bfm.admin.ch

Choice of legal structure

The choice of legal structure depends upon a number of factors (incl. available capital, business model, distribution of ownership and liability issues). The overview of legal structures on pages 15–20 lists the main properties and requirements for the five most popular legal structures: sole proprietorship, GmbH (roughly the equivalent of: L.L.C.), AG (roughly the equivalent of: corp. [US], plc. [UK]), Kollektivgesellschaft (general partnership) and Kommanditgesellschaft (limited partnership).

Preparing to set up a company – step by step

The process of checking and preparing to set up a company involves a wide range of different topics, including: checking the availability of a company name and the desired URL, intellectual property, clarification of social security questions, search for a location, specific incorporation formalities, value added tax and other insurance issues.

The checklist for setting up a company on pages 23–30 gives a general outline of the most important steps involved when establishing a sole proprietorship, a GmbH or an AG. This admittedly fairly extensive checklist provides an important overview of aspects that need to be taken into account before and after the actual act of founding a company (which, per se, can be accomplished relatively quickly). Unlike other countries, there are no business licenses in Switzerland. However, a number of occupational activities are subject to authorization (this can be the case at a national, cantonal or municipal level). An overview of the federal level is available at www.e-service.admin.ch/bewilligungen. Various cantonal authorities also provide overviews, such as the Canton of Zürich at www.bewilligungen.zh.ch. It is advisable to contact the inter-trade organizations for industry-sector-specific information: www.verbaende.ch.

Experience has shown that particular attention should be paid to the following topics: VAT registration, registration with the social insurances and obtaining the necessary permits. Failure to meet the stipulated requirements can lead to high payments of arrears, even years later.

According to a study conducted by the Zurich University of Applied Sciences a few years ago, it takes roughly 9 hours over a period of 26 days to set up an AG in Switzerland. By international comparison, this translates into ranking in the upper midrange.

General tax information

Generally speaking, taxation occurs on the following three levels: federal, cantonal and municipal (communal). With regard to legal entities, the direct taxes are levied on profit and capital. In the case of natural persons and business partnerships, they are imposed on income and assets.

Indirect taxes and charges in the form of duties on sales and consumption are reserved to the federal authorities.

Natural persons who have their place of residence in Switzerland or their residency in Switzerland and work here are subject to taxation in Switzerland. As a general rule, taxes are not deducted by the employer, but levied retroactively pursuant to the principle of self-declaration in an assessment procedure.

Natural persons with their place of residence or their residency in Switzerland without a settlement permit (C permit) who work as employees (this is generally the case for new arrivals with a B permit) are subject to tax at source (wage withholding tax). The tax at source is deducted directly by the employer and replaces the direct federal, cantonal and municipal taxes. If the taxable amount reaches more than CHF 120'000 per year, a regular statutory assessment is made. Compared to the regular taxation, the tax at source is per se special insofar as the different tax rates of the municipalities (communes) do not come into play.

Executive staff or specialists (i.e. expatriates) who are posted temporarily in Switzerland by their foreign employer (e.g. to set up a branch office) generally benefit from the deductibility of (effectively incurred) special work-related expenses.

Natural persons without their place of residence or residency in Switzerland are subject to a limited tax liability (also tax at source) based on the economic affiliation, if they generate income in Switzerland. This refers, inter alia, to members of management of non-Swiss companies with a branch in Switzerland. To avoid or mitigate double taxation in Switzerland and abroad, Switzerland has double taxation agreements with more than 80 states.

Switzerland's three-pillar pension system

The Swiss pension and social security system combines and aligns the state, occupational and individual provisions. It is based on a three-pillar system which rates individual responsibility very highly. By international comparison, the overall burden of tax and social security charges is moderate.

(See also: www.bsv.admin.ch)

1st pillar

Coverage of basic needs of the insured is secured through the Federal Occupational Retirement and Survivors' Insurance (AHV) and the Invalidity Insurance (IV). Both these insurances are compulsory and financed through employer and employee contributions (income percentage).

2nd pillar

The Occupational Pension Fund is complementary to the 1st pillar and designed to help secure a continuation of the former standard of living upon retirement. It is compulsory for all employees in Switzerland. It is also financed through employer and employee contributions (income percentage).

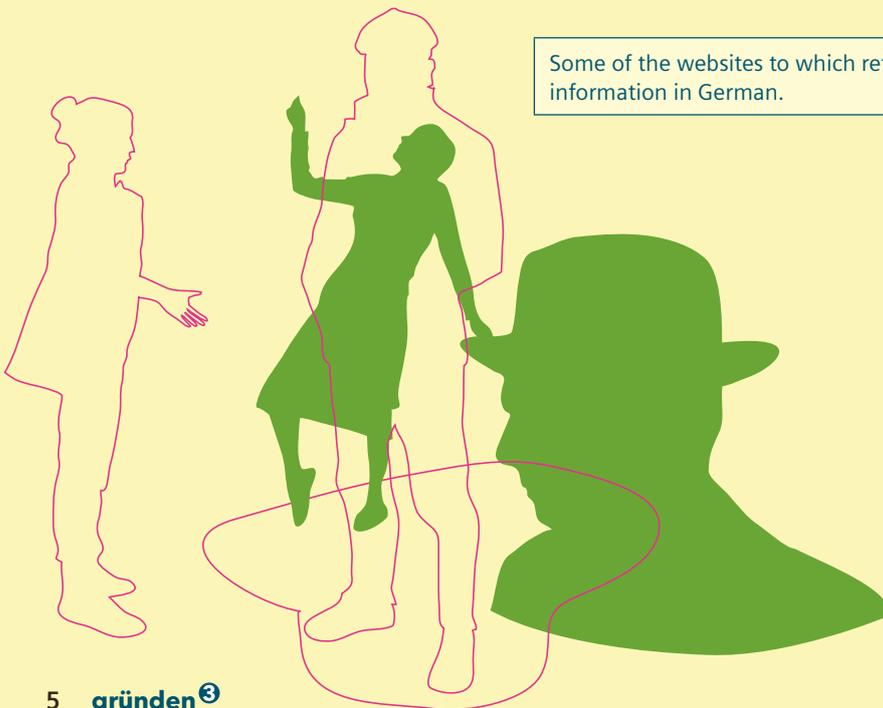

3rd pillar

The individual, optional private provisions of employed and self-employed persons are intended to cover additional personal needs, primarily through bank and insurance savings. These provisions are partly tax-privileged.

Supplementary benefits

The three basic pillars of social security are supplemented by the unemployment insurance and the income compensation scheme (EO) to cover income losses resulting from military service, civil defense, civilian service and maternity. Children's allowances are to be paid pursuant to cantonal law.

Some of the websites to which reference is made in this publication currently only contain information in German.

A good reception thanks to a growing network

Differnet from other countries, Switzerland does not prescribe any compulsory membership in trade or industrial organizations or chambers of commerce. Also, the Swiss tend to be rather reserved when meeting people for the first time. Do not let this discourage you. Take the initiative and join associations and organizations. Make the most of the multifaceted networking platforms, of which there are plenty both for leisure-time interests and business activities.

A selection of organizations is listed below:

- Chambers of Commerce, such as cantonal chambers of commerce
Swiss-American Chamber of Commerce www.amcham.ch
Association of Swiss Foreign Trade Chambers www.swisscham.ch
- Industrial and other associations www.verbaende.ch
- Trade associations www.sgv-usam.ch
- International clubs

Information for board members and executive managers*

It is incumbent on members of the board of an AG or the executive managers of a GmbH to supervise and manage the corporation according to the legislation. Breach of this obligation can lead to the office bearers being held personally liable. Make sure you have regular access to the required information and compare events continuously with the business plan / budget and intervene quickly when something goes wrong. Special care should be taken to pay the Old Age and Survivors' Insurance (OASI/AHV) contributions regularly because a more stringent level of personal liability is applied in respect of such contributions. The obligations and responsibilities referred to may also be incumbent on so-called de facto bodies meaning persons who are not formal members of the board or executive managers but who may substantially influence management of the business.

Information concerning simple partnerships and general partnerships*

A simple partnership is a community based on law and a partnership under Swiss law. Pursuant to Art. 530 of the CO, it is defined as a contractual association of two or more individuals to attain a mutual goal by means of mutual efforts and funds. According to Art. 530, para.2 CO the simple partnership is defined conversely as the form of corporation that arises if the conditions are not met for any other form of corporation. Individuals who "carry on trade, manufacturing or any other business according to commercial principles under a mutual firm" (Art. 552 CO) become a general partnership. The simple partnership is not a legal entity and therefore has no legal capacity. The partners are primarily liable jointly and severally for the partnership's debts. Be aware that the moment you do not decide for any other legal form and engage in business mutually with others you become part of either a simple partnership or a general partnership. Both may be informal, that is they come into existence without a written contract simply through mere activity performed, e.g. by representation with a mutual name, letterhead or by submitting quotations and invoices in the name of the association.

Comments

- 1 An independent economic activity of an intended permanent nature that does not necessarily presuppose profit orientation.
- 2 In addition to the possibilities provided under corporate law for acquiring external investors, there are various contractual arrangements possible covering the range from external capital to equity, e.g. convertible loans, loans with a conversion option or a success-related interest rate.
- 3 Exit:
Sale of the business through transfer of assets and liabilities is permitted for all corporate structures. The conditions of the law on mergers (CO 181 IV) regulate takeovers of the assets or the business of general partnerships, limited partnerships, partnerships limited by shares, corporations/public limited companies, limited liability companies, cooperatives, associations, foundations and sole proprietorships registered in the commercial register. In all other cases see CO 181 I, II and III (continued liability of the transferor). For information on transfer of employment relationships cp. CO 333.

Employee participation:
Alternatives to transferring company equity (e.g. shares) are, inter alia, bonus contracts and participation in profits.

Checklist for setting up a company

Please note that not all points listed in this checklist necessarily apply to every individual case. Some topics presented here are explained more extensively on the website www.gruenden.ch.

Preparation
Basic legal considerations	All three legal structures	GmbH AG
	Irrespective of the legal structure, every company founder should be aware that there are activities and trade relations which need to be regulated by way of a contract.	Corporate law issues need to be addressed and put in writing before setting up a company (e.g. in a shareholders' agreement). If intellectual property rights (e.g. inventions, designs, software code) were purchased, these need to be brought into the company. A shell company purchase is strongly advised against.
Draw up a rough concept or a business plan	All three legal structures
	Before you begin, check if you fulfil the personal requirements to work in a self-employed capacity and that you possess sufficient know-how and experience. Consult your family, friends and acquaintances, and draw up a concept or a business plan.
Obtain permits	All three legal structures
	Clarify if permits or other legal requirements are necessary to pursue the planned activity. More information is available at: http://bewilligungen.kmuinfo.ch (national level) or the cantonal platforms.
Pre-inquiries concerning recognition of self-employment	Sole Proprietorship	GmbH AG
	Check in advance with your compensation fund if the activity you plan will be recognized as self-employment by the old-age and survivors' insurance AHV . More information is available at www.ausgleichskasse.ch . For some trades and professions recognition of self-employment is granted exclusively by the Swiss Accident Insurance Fund SUVA. More information is available at www.suva.ch .	No provisions required
Pre-inquiries concerning necessary insurances especially personal insurances	All three legal structures
	Check your insurance needs and responsibilities , including those covering your business risks. Request insurance quotes from SUVA (www.suva.ch), your trade/professional association and private insurance providers. Premium amounts are based on the insured salary. More information is available at: www.bsv.admin.ch > KMU-Ratgeber
	Sole Proprietorship	GmbH AG
	Arrange insurance coverage of the following for yourself : – 1 st pillar [AHV, IV (disability), EO (unemployment)], children's allowances – occupational pension fund 2 nd pillar – daily indemnity insurance for sickness – accident insurance Sole proprietorships must join a family compensation fund, even if only childless individuals, part-time staffers or no staff at all are employed. If you employ staff , you must take out an accident insurance and register your employees with the AHV. With respect to the occupational pension fund, insurance obligation starts at an annual income of CHF 21 060 (year 2013). Whereas the law does not stipulate taking out a daily indemnity insurance for sickness, it is customary and advisable.	Check the following insurances for yourself* and your employees : – 1 st pillar [AHV, IV (disability), EO (unemployment)], children's allowances – occupational pension fund (2 nd pillar), compulsory – daily indemnity insurance for sickness – accident insurance (compulsory: work-related accidents (BU): non-work related accidents (NBU) only if more than eight working hours per week) * In insurance terms, you are considered an employee of the AG/GmbH if you work as a (co)owner for the AG/GmbH.  In this respect, please contact your designated compensation or family compensation fund. Further information is available at: www.ausgleichskasse.ch .  Not absolutely necessary, but advisable depending on the situation.
Secure financing	All three legal structures
	The search for capital is a further challenge. Bear in mind that potential investors will request a business plan, to assess your project and its prospects for success. Once financing is secured, you can open a company account at the bank of your choice.
Business premises	All three legal structures
	Look around for suitable business premises. In this regard, consider that, as a general rule, a deposit the equivalent of three months' rent will need to be paid into a blocked account. In the event of reconstruction/renovation, the local building authorities must be consulted first.

	All three legal structures
Decide on company name	Decide on the company name. It is advisable to check the availability of the envisaged name, to avoid conflicts with companies using a similar name. Company name searches can be requested at the Federal Commercial Registry Office (FCRO) www.regix.ch .

If you wish to protect your logo as a figurative trademark , you will need to register it with the Swiss Federal Institute of Intellectual property (IGE) www.ige.ch . Consider that, although the visual appearance is important, you will be measured primarily by the quality of your products or services and your customer orientation. Note the requirement to correctly denote the name of the company [Firmengebrauchspflicht] as stipulated in Art. 954a CO: the company name or name as registered in the commercial register (CR) must be stated fully and accurately in your correspondence, on order forms, invoices and notifications. By contrast, companies that register in the commercial register voluntarily are not subject to a compulsory bookkeeping requirement. Pursuant to Art. 70 MWSTG every taxable person is required to maintain his/her books of account in an orderly fashion and to structure them in a manner that helps to reliably and easily ascertain the relevant facts regarding taxability as well as for calculation of VAT on turnover and VAT on input. For businesses that are in any case required to keep accounts, the VAT calculation will be based on these books. Taxable persons who are not subject to the CO-prescribed keeping of books of account are nonetheless advised (in their own interest) to follow the corresponding rules. Irrespective of registration in the commercial register, self-employed persons (including freelancers and farmers) must observe the compulsory documentation and safe-keeping duty for taxation purposes (cp. Art. 125 para.2 Federal Law on the Direct Tax to the Confederation DBG www.admin.ch). Provided receipts are available, founding costs incurred in advance can be booked in the accounts as per the date of foundation.		Your duty to keep books of account commences with the registration of the company in the commercial register. Provided receipts are available, the cost incurred prior to this can be booked in the accounts as per the date of foundation.

CR = commercial register OCR = Ordinance on the Commercial Registry MWSTG = Federal VAT law
 CO = Swiss Code of Obligations CC = Civil Code BD = Board of Directors

Registration with the compensation fund and family compensation fund	Sole Proprietorship Contact your designated compensation fund and the family compensation fund concerning the registration of your self-employment as well as the mandatory OASI (AHV) payments and the family allowances for your employees. More information is available at www.ausgleichskasse.ch.
Further registrations	All three legal structures As a general rule, a commercial register excerpt, or more precisely, registration in the commercial register is necessary when applying for a company telephone number. In some cases, a deposit needs to be paid per telephone or fax number (amounting to approx. CHF 800). The road traffic licensing office requires an excerpt from the commercial register for number plates and for the registration of company vehicles.
After founding the company
Clarify VAT liability	All three legal structures Anyone carrying out a self-employed commercial and professional activity is liable to pay VAT, irrespective of whether or not the intention is to make a profit. Pursuant to VAT law (MWSTG) the threshold for mandatory tax liability is a domestic turnover of \geq CHF100 000 (Art. 10 para.2 lit. a-c MWSTG). The following companies are exempt from VAT liability: enterprises with a domestic turnover of $<$ CHF 100 000; non-profit, voluntarily managed sports and cultural clubs or charitable organizations with a domestic turnover $<$ CHF 150 000; companies with their place of business abroad that supply services exclusively subject to the acquisition tax. As soon as you meet the VAT-paying requirements you are required to register in writing and unprompted with the Swiss Federal Tax Administration in Berne within 30 days of meeting the VAT criteria. Pursuant to Art. 14 MWSTG, tax liability commences with the initiation of the business activity. In principle, any company can apply for VAT registration even if exempt from VAT liability. For additional information, please consult the VAT relevant web pages of the Swiss Federal Tax Administration. Both the VAT registration and the VAT questionnaire to check VAT liability can be completed online. However, the Swiss Federal Tax Administration recommends sending the documents with a legally binding signature by regular mail to the Swiss Federal Tax Administration. It is also recommendable to check if you meet the conditions for one of the simplified accounting variants (net tax rate method pursuant to Art. 37 MWSTG or reporting of tax on the basis of the consideration collected pursuant to Art. 39 para.2 MWSTG). Effective 1 January 2014, the company identification number will replace the six-digit VAT number used hitherto. The law on a company identification number entered into force on 1 January 2011. As a consequence of this law, a consistent identification number is assigned to every company in Switzerland. The registration in the official register of company identification numbers (UID-Register) of the Federal Statistical Office is free of charge. The Swiss Federal Tax Administration recommends companies to start using the company identification number forthwith, with the added reference: VAT. However, registration in the UID-Register does not mean that a VAT number is thus applied for automatically. This number needs to be obtained separately. More information is available at www.estv.admin.ch. GmbH AG The VAT number can be applied for prior to registration in the commercial register. However, it only becomes valid once the company is registered in the commercial register.
Take out the required insurances	All three legal structures Take out the necessary insurances (inter alia: fire, water, operational liability). These generally cost between CHF 1000 and 5000 per year. Personal insurances as outlined under the heading "Pre-inquiries concerning necessary insurances" (on page 23) also need to be taken out.
Tax optimization measures	All three legal structures The annual accounts must be in keeping with the law. The new accounting legislation is expected to enter into force at the beginning of 2013. This legislation can be applied from the day of entering into force. After the expiry of the transitional period (expected to be the beginning of 2015) it will become effective for all companies. If in the best long-term interest of the company and the shareholders, the creation of hidden reserves is still permitted in Switzerland. Note should be taken of the fact that the tax regulations differ from canton to canton. Therefore, it is advisable to consult a fiduciary or tax advisor for the tax optimization of annual accounts. There are ways to optimize the tax position of companies and entrepreneurs as private persons. For example, private persons can transfer amounts to the pillar 3a or buy into a pension fund, provided they are a member of a pension fund.

	Sole Proprietorship	GmbH	AG
Tax optimization measures	Self-employed persons can voluntarily join the pension fund of their employees or seek insurance via their professional association. Self-employed persons who decide to join a pension fund when in so-called “middle-age” tend to have considerable contribution gaps. Thus, in practice, correspondingly high purchases of additional pension benefits are possible. Self-employed persons who voluntarily join a pension fund have the same occupational pension choices as the employees. By nature, the business results of self-employed persons are subject to greater fluctuations than employee incomes. Therefore, “finetuning” by way of purchase of additional pension benefits in good business years is important so as to reduce progressive taxation effectively.	In the initial years after setting up a company, taxation tends not to be very topical. However, as soon as a company has established itself and is financially successful, tax optimization becomes important. As a case in point, the owners of capital companies need to think about how payment is to occur (keywords: income or dividends). A purchase of pension benefits also needs to be looked into, and the advantages and drawbacks assessed. Very often, it is worthwhile to seek the advice of an expert.
Start of development phase	All three legal structures Congratulations! You have completed the company founding phase and can now move on to the development phase. The activities in the first few months are decisive for the future of your company. It is important to keep careful track of key factors. Even after setting up your company, there are several requirements which need to be taken into account: on the one hand, those stipulated in the CO (inter alia: duties of the corporate bodies, retention of a share register if there are registered shares, ordinary general meeting within 6 months of the close of the financial year). On the other hand, there might be industry-sector-specific permits in need of renewal or other conditions that require fulfilling. Furthermore, the commercial register stipulates specific requirements (e. g. mandatory accounting and retention duty). Other duties are also defined in the articles of association of the GmbH or the AG. In addition, there are social security and tax obligations, as well as duties resulting from contracts with customers, suppliers or employees. Henceforth, it is essential that you keep these duties in mind.
